2017-2018

Thank you for your interest in joining the Bard Clemente Course in the Humanities at the Kingston Public Library, 55 Franklin Street, Kingston, NY 12401. Applications are due by September 20th. If you have missed the deadline, please email Marina van Zuylen at vanzuyle@bard.edu for consideration. Classes will begin on Thursday, September 28, 2017 at 6pm on the second floor of the Kingston Library.

The Clemente Course provides college level instruction in the humanities, with the award of college credits, to individuals at no cost and in an accessible and welcoming community setting. Participants study literature, art history, moral philosophy, and American history. Students explore great works of fiction, poetry, drama, painting, sculpture, architecture, and philosophy, while learning also about the events that define America as a nation. The course also offers instruction in writing and critical thinking, and is run in a convivial, conversational style, encouraging an appreciation for lively and vital dialogue. Your professors love what they teach and will demonstrate how learning is a natural part of life. There are no grades, but participation is essential. If you complete the full year successfully, you are eligible for 6 college credits from Bard College. The course is free and daycare is provided. The minimum age of applicants is 17 years of age.

A required Bard Clemente info/interview session will be held on Thursday, September 14th and Tuesday, September 19th from 6-8pm at the Kingston Public Library, 55 Franklin Street, Kingston, NY 12401.
